Music: A Vessel for the Sacred

Wednesdays at 7:30 p.m. w/ Katy Shevel and Tim Evers
A Three Class Series on March 9th, 16th, and 23rd in the Chapel

Register here if attending via Zoom.

Music is beautiful. It stirs our hearts and shapes our imaginations. Human beings have always been driven to express ourselves creatively through music and the arts. In the Wayne Oratorio Society's upcoming concert series this April, we are invited to experience how great music renders our innermost beliefs about God and the world around us. Karl Jenkins' The Peacemakers, drawing on texts from some of the greatest theological thinkers of our time, and Beethoven's Ninth Symphony, which sets the "Ode to Joy" by Friedrich Schiller, summon us to experience what the theological themes of peace and joy sound like. Join Tim Evers and Katy Shevel for a collaborative three-part discussion interpreting the theology, context, and beauty behind the music of Karl Jenkins' The Peacemakers and Beethoven's Ninth.

Adult Ed Offering: Critical Race Theory, Intersectionality, & Social Justice

On Sunday, February 20th and Sunday, 27th, David Bronkema, Ph.D. will be speaking in the Chapel at 10:30 a.m. To attend via Zoom, please register here. There is no need to register if attending in-person.

Dr. Bronkema will be addressing a central question: from a Christian viewpoint, what is all the uproar about?

Book Club

Join us for discussion around The Color of Water, by James McBride, a talented author, journalist & musician who debuted his inspiring memoir in 1996. He alternates chapters between his story and the story of his mother, a white Jewish woman who fled an abusive father in the south. She lands in New York City and finds faith, love and community with a Black pastor and the church that he serves. McBride discovers that to understand who he is, he needs to understand the story of his often secretive mother. While this may be a familiar book to many, it is worth revisiting as we recognize Black History Month.

Discussion groups will be March 13th at 10:30am or March 14th at 7:00pm by Zoom. Please purchase your own book or borrow one from the local libraries. Email Janice Mack with questions.

Welcoming Collette Anderson, our new Interim Worship & Music Administrative Assistant!

Collette joins us on a part-time basis as we navigate a period of transition within the church office. She is assisting with various administrative tasks, such as creating the Sunday bulletin, creating worship slides, managing the Powerpoint on the screen in the Connector, and providing much support to efforts of the Music Ministry.

While new to the role, Collette is not new to WPC. She began working as an assistant to the Children's Choir program in September 2016. An accomplished singer, she has substituted for both our soprano and alto soloists for Sunday worship and in 2019 sang in The Wayne Oratorio Society's performances of Elijah at both Wayne Presbyterian Church and the National Cathedral.
